Capital expenditures for the properties underlying the Trust during the period were approximately $3.3 million. Capital relates to incurred expenses during December 2012, primarily for two Permian oil wells being drilled in the Lost Tank field in southeastern New Mexico. Enduro owns a 50% working interest in the field and expects capital expenditures related to these two wells to total approximately $7.3 million, of which $2.9 million was included in the current month’s capital and $3.5 million is expected to be included in next month’s capital expenditures. The wells were spud in December 2012 and are expected to begin producing in February 2013.

Total capital incurred during 2012 for the underlying properties was approximately $15.8 million. In 2013, Enduro Resource Partners, the sponsor of the Trust, expects capital to range from $22—$24 million, focused on projects in the Permian Basin. These projects are anticipated to grow oil production during the year. For further information on the 2013 capital program and projects, Enduro has prepared a presentation which will be posted on the Trust’s website today.

Enduro Royalty Trust is a Delaware statutory trust formed by Enduro Resource Partners to own a net profits interest representing the right to receive 80% of the net profits from the sale of oil and natural gas production from certain of Enduro Resource Partners’ properties in the states of Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico. As described in the Trust’s filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, the amount of the periodic distributions is expected to fluctuate, depending on the proceeds received by the Trust as a result of actual production volumes, oil and gas prices and the amount and timing of the Trust’s administrative expenses, among other factors. Future distributions are expected to be made on a monthly basis. For additional information on the Trust, please visit www.enduroroyaltytrust.com.
